

School's IB results rank among best

Sixth form pupils at Gresham's School, Holt, have again achieved outstanding International Baccalaureate (IB) Diploma results.

The results saw the average points score per pupil rise to 35 from 34 in 2015, significantly higher than the global average of 30 points and placing Gresham's among the top IB schools in the world.

Twenty-eight pupils sat the IB Diploma this year with four scoring 40 or more points, placing them in the top 5pc of global IB Diploma achievers. Gresham's is the only Norfolk school offering the IB.

IB pupils included Iona Rangeley-Wilson, from Thornham, near Hunstanton, and Daniel Symonds, from Belton, near Great Yarmouth.

Iona plans a gap year before applying to study English at Oxford. Daniel, a former Ormiston Venture Academy pupil who was awarded a scholarship to join Gresham's sixth form, has accepted a place at UEA to study history.
