SCHOOL CONGRATULATES FORMER PUPIL ON LATEST AWARD SUCCESS

Gresham's is delighted to congratulate former pupil, Olivia Colman (pictured) on winning the Golden Globe Award for Best Actress in a Supporting Role for her part in the British television drama, The Night Manager, at the annual ceremony which took place in California.

Olivia adds this latest award to an impressive collection that includes three BAFTA awards and two BIFA awards.

Olivia, who attended Gresham's Sixth Form, has previously said that it was during her time at the school where she discovered her love of acting. Paul Hands, Gresham's former Director of Drama, wrote in the Gresham's 1991-1992 yearbook: "Pupils are still talking about Colman's performance in Prime of Miss Jean Brodie" (a school House production).

Described as 'divinely gifted' by the actress Meryl Streep whom she worked with on the film The Iron Lady, where she played Margaret Thatcher's daughter, Carol, Olivia has become a household name and one of Britain's biggest stars since she first appeared in Peep Show in 2003.

Gresham's Headmaster, Douglas Robb, said: "I am thrilled to learn of Olivia's latest award and offer her my warmest congratulations on behalf of staff and pupils at Gresham's. We are immensely proud of her successful career and watch with interest as it continues to go from strength to strength."

Olivia returned to her former school in 2014 to meet with pupils and to speak about her career and offer advice to those seeking to emulate her success.

Many other Gresham's pupils have gone on to achieve success in the performing arts including Miranda Raison, Ben Mansfield and Sienna Guillory.
