

Source: i (The paper for today)
Date: 19/06/2019

Dyson donates £19m to his former school

PEOPLE

Sir James Dyson has donated almost £19m to his former school for a new science and technology centre. The billionaire was a nine-year-old pupil at Gresham's School in Holt, Norfolk, when his father Alec, a teacher at the school, died in 1956. The school supported him, offering him and his brother scholarships to stay on.