FELSTED'S ROYAL APPOINTMENT

Felsted School, Essex, enjoyed the crowning moment of its 450th year celebrations as Her Majesty the Queen visited the School – following in the footsteps of Her Majesty The Queen Mother who visited for the 400th anniversary. Upon arrival at the Lord Riche Hall the royal couple were greeted by the national anthem, played by Felsted's Corps of Drums. There was a private lunch, prepared by Felsted's nervous but excited catering department, followed by an assembly where the Queen unveiled two plaques to commemorate the anniversary, and also the rebuilding of Follyfield boarding house.

Right, the Queen following in the footsteps of the Queen Mother
